MARCUS DALY'S DIG COLT WINS THE SEASHORE STAKE.

It Was the First Race Won by One of the Copper King's Two-year-olds This Year -A Lot of Money Bet on the Winner-Patrician Takes the Parkville Stakes Cleverty-Stonenell, Candelaben, Golden Rod, and Ansignee the Other Winners.

Although there was nothing striking on yeserday's programme for Gravesend, the Brooklyn Jockey Club had 6,000 persons present to usher in its autumn meeting. The race for the Seashore Stakes for two-year-olds, won by Salvation, was easily the feature of the day, but the run through the stretch in the last race was stirring and sent the crowd home in good humor. weather was superb and the starting of Mr. Rowe was one of the features of the day, the only mistake he made being a rather bad send off for Utica in the selling race for two-year-olds, which was won by Golden Rod. Presment Dwyer had the pleasure of seeing his own selt, Patrician, win the Parkville Stakes from Mir Knight, Stonenellie, and Senator Grady.

Mat Byrnes, wno trains for Marcus Daly, the Montana millionaire, had, up to the last day of the Sheepshead Bay meeting, won but two races, and the followers of the copper king's stable were out of pocket considerably, many through the defeats of Senator Grady, Sadie, and Salvation. Those who clung to Byrnes, however, got even yesterday in the Senshure stakes, which was won by Salvation at odds of 25 and 30 to 1. Manchester, Col. Ruppert's representative, was the favorite at 2 to 1, the son of Sir Modred being an added starter, taking the place of his stable companion, Counter Tenor, Lamly, who is the regular jockey for the stable, was supplanted by Taral and he straightway accepted the mount on Salvation. Byron McClelland's beautiful binek colt Halma, and W. H. Forbes's Silvie, the last named the third horse in the Great Eastern Handicap at Sheepshead Bay on Thursday, were second choices at 3 to 1, both receiving the warmest of support. Mr. Rowe sent the youngsters away to a perfect start, but Manchester, Silvie, and Kennel outran their competitors at once and were head and head for the first half mile. Silvie ran wide on the upper turn and carried Halma out to the middle of the course and Doggett had to pull up a bit, thus losing a couple of lengths of precious ground. At the head of the homestretch Lamly, who had been well up, came through with Salvation, and there was a stirring battle to the finish. Kennel quit first, leaving Manchester, Salvation, Silvie, and Halma to fight it out. Lamly rode the best finish he has shown in months and won by half a length from Silvie, with Manchester the same distance before Halma, Marcus Daly's commissioners had flooded the ring with money on the winner, and the ring was as badly burt over the race as though Halma, Silvie, or Manchester had won. The winner is by Salvator, out of Byrnes's friends, flushed with their successes over Salvation, were on Senator Grady to a man to win the Parkville Stakes for three-year-olds. The Dwyers and others played Patrician, and there was not much to choose between the pair as regards price when the bugle sounded. The other starters were Sir Knight and Stonenellie, the latter at 60 and 100 to 1 in the botting. In warming up there was a strong contrast between Patrician and Senator Grady, and when the latter, whose hair is as dead and dry as a chip, fell to his knees, the rail birds flew to the ring to hedge their bets, for, on looks alone, Patrician seemed capable of giving the Senator not only 8 pounds, but 10 more on top of this liberal allowance. Stonenellie sprang away in the lead and ran the first half mile in 50 seconds, with Patrician a close second and the others three or four lengths back. Grady was beaten at the half-mile pole, and Simms waited with Patrician until well into the homestretch, when he cut loose, and, possing Stonenellie, won hands down in 1:4894. Sir Knight, in a drive, beat 800nenellie a neck for second money. Although Doggett did not complain to the stewards he accused Heiff, the rider of Stonenellie, while Degett did not complain to the stewards he accused Heiff, the rider of Stonenellie, who. Patrician cost P. J. Dwyer something like $2,500. Senator Grady is a wreck of a once great coil, and he should be retired for the balance of the year.

like $2,500. Senator Grady is a wreck of a once great colt, and he should be retired for the balance of the year.

The sport began tamely enough with only Stomenell, Correction, and the outsider, Mendicant, going to the post. Stomenell's last race at Sheepshead Ray was so good that it did not seem possible that he could be beaten, and he was played by the heavy speculators until 1 to 5 was the best that could be obtained. There was no pace until the upper turn was reached, when Mendicant was quickly outrun and dropped far behind. Coming home Stomenell brought the mare to a drive, but in spite of Littlefield skicking and punching the sister to Domino could not extend the big chestnut, and he won in a gallop under a double puil.

The public could see nothing but Candelabra for the selling race at one mile and a sixteenth, and made him a 2 to 5 chance. Arrab and Chattanoga being the most fancied of the others, with Charus the outsider at 100 to 1. Clarus and Miss Dixle supplanted Chattanoga after the first furlong had been passed, and made the running to the head of the attent, where Candelabra, nooga being the most fancied of the others, with Clarus the outsider at 100 to 1. Clarus and Miss Dixie supplanted Chattanooga after the first furlong had been passed, and made the running to the head of the atretch, where Candelabra, who had been well up all the way, took second place to Miss Dixie. Clarus dropping back and being swallowed by the ruck. Candelabra proved too much for Miss Dixie, and won under a pull by a good length. Miss Dixie was a comfortable second, while Song and Dance under the whip beat Arab a neck for third money. Johnny Lamly choked all the run out of Chattanooga by trying to wait with him but the horse is getting too much racing. Arab, Song and Dance, Madrid, and Candelabra behaved badly at the post, the former refusing repeatedly to break. Pittsburgh Phil breathed easier when nobody bid on the winner.

In the opinions of the plungers the Brookdate filly Golden Rod had a frat mortgage on the fifth race, a selling affair for two-year-olds at five furiongs. The daughter of Stonehenge went to the post at 2 to 5, while 10 to 1 or better could be had against any of her competitors. Utlea, ridden by Shaw, spoiled a couple of starts, and the flag finally fell with the Manhattan Stable's representative hopelessly tangled up. Second Attempt and Golden Rod raced away in front and had the race to themselves, the favorite finally winning by a length. Cockade was a close third. Col. Thompson, and his son. W. P. Thompson, Jr., was present to see their filly win. Appomattox was very sore warming up, but the public could see nothing but the Cedar Hill Stable's colt and made him favorite for the last race, a handicap at six furiongs. Armitage was second choice at 3 to 1. The start was perfect but Hamilton took Assignee back and let Appomattox, Ellen, Armitage, and Adelbert race for the lead. They were an easy prey for the Reene colt in the stretch, and when Hamilton moved up rapidly in the final furlong none of his competitors could live the pace he set. The result was that Assignee, whose price in th

TARRASCH BEATS WALBRODT In the Leipsic Tournament Lipks Is Also

Larrenc, Sept. 7 .- At the conclusion of the sixth round in the international chess masters tournament last evening there was a grand Fest-Commers at the Europäischer Hof in bonor of the competitors. It was an enjoyable affair. The players in the seventh round, which comenced this morning, were drawn as follows:

menced this morning, were drawn as follows:
Seuffert vs. Misses, Tarrasch vs. Walliendt, Janowsky vs. Wepflieb, Hischburne vs. Senheve, Baird vs. Techmann, Schiffers vs. Zinkl. Marco vs. Berger, Lipke vs.
schieter, and Succhting vs. Mason.

Only four games were finished. In the contest between Tarrasch and Walbrodt the Doctor opened with a King's Knight's Gambit, which Walbrodt did not accept. As in the match games recently played between these experts at Nuremberg, Tarrasch managed to accumulate little advantages, and by clever play compelled Walbrodt to again acknowledge defeat, which came after thirty-eight moves.
Marco's and Berger's lightning tempo in a French defence created a little sensation, for they agreed upon a draw after only thirteen moves had been registered.
Mieses, who conducted a double Fianchetto against Scuffert, scored his first win in the tournament. The latter did well for about sixteen moves, when he seriously compromised his position.
In the game between Janowsky and Weydlich

moves, when he seriously compromised his position.

In the game between Janowsky and Weydlich the latter fell back upon the French defence. The Parisian played spiritedly. When eighteen moves had been recorded Weydlich host ground. At last black's position became hopeless, and Janowsky scored after thirty-one moves.

The other games, namely, Hlackburne against Scheve, a stubbornly contested Vienna, opened by the former: Baird against Telchmann, a Spanish game which the latter defended with 3. P-Q R 3; Schiffers against Zinkl, a French defence, played by the latter (Lipke against Schlechter, a Vienna opening, which became highly interesting, and Suechling against Mason, a Ruy Lopez, which the Anglo-American defended with 3. Kt-K B 3, were adjourned.

The afternoon was devoted to the unfinished games of the previous rounds. Mason was beaten by Weydlich, Walbrod, and Suechting after forty-five, sixty, and forty moves respectively. The openings were irregular, Ruy Lopez, and Ruy Lopez.

Mieses beat Weydlich in a Sicilian game after sixty-six moves, and Su substrain after stray-six moves, and su survents in a Vienna game after stray-six moves, and su survents in a vienna game after stray-six moves, and su survents in a vienna game after stray-six moves, and su survents in a vienna game after stray-six moves, and su survents in a vienna game after stray-six moves, and su survents in a vienna game after seconds, for moves the survents and su survents in a vienna game after seconds, for moves the survents and survents and

CARLDON LOSES AGAIN

THE NEW ENGLAND STALLION A BIG DISAPPOINTMENT.

An Immense Payorite for the 2:22 Trot He Falled to Best Coroon and King Darlington-Major Dickinson Owns the Winner, and Starr Brove Her Well-The Bonble Team Race a Parce-Judge Austin Looks Like a Winner of the Postponed Race.

So much time was wasted at Fleetwood Park esterday, that after keeping the horses at it for nearly six hours, only three races were finished. This carries the Grand Circuit meeting over for an extra day, a result which will doubtless suit he management, even if it is not so agreeable to the visiting horsemen. The improved weather nade a visit to the shabby old track much more pleasant than at any time since the meeting bean, and the patronage was, if anything, larger than on Thursday. By a change in the order of the programme the 2:22 class for trotters was the first thing on the card, and this event was the last one decided. For seven heats the big field battled, and the honors finally went to Cocoon, the game black mare that Major S. T. Dickinson picked up early in the season during a visit to Indiana. The victory was a popular one, and was well earned, for Cocoon was well up in every heat, and had the favorite, Carldon, at her mercy after the fourth mile had been trotted. King Darlington, another local flyer, loomed up as a dangerous factor as the race became prolonged, and was only beaten in the last stride of the deciding heat. The novelty race for 2:35 trotters was a diamal affair, and afer Anson had shut out two of his field Memorial, the only survivor, was not asked to come out again, as the complicated conditions provided. but got second money without walking over. pairs, but the much-talked-of contest very flat. Azote and Answer had such a long lend in slow time that the Salisbury pair might as well have started alone. McHenry let them step along a little faster in the third heat, and they did the mile in 2:2314, after losing several seconds by a tangled reak. The 2:16 trot, which started late, promised to be another long affair, as neither Rose Leaf nor Expressive, who carried the bulk of the money, seemed at home on the wornout course, and the two heats that were decided before dark went to older campaigners.

No doubt the three men who assumed the functions of judges yesterday meant well, but they showed a lamentable lack of familiarity with the rules or the ability to administer then When an accident occurred in the first heat of the 2:22 trot it was called "no heat," a decision which had to be reversed when it was found there was no authority for it. The change was almost as bad, for Quraterstretch, who was placed first, had run more than a furlong, and East View was clearly entitled to the heat. Then in the first heat of the 2:16 trot Stronts did enough running to be set back in favor of did enough running to be set back in favor of the more honest trotter. Judge Austin, but again the horses were placed as they finished. Starter Loper was not in his best form either, notably in the fourth heat of the first race, when he gave Carldon an advantage at the start. In the early betting on the 2:92 trot Carldon was a pronounced favorite at 50 to 18 for the other nine starters. He was not prominent in the first heat, chiefly owing to an accident which overturned King Darlington's sulky near the point of rocks. George H. Martin, the driver of Darlington, was thrown out, and the fright-ened stallion galloped through his field till Mounted Officer Rabbit of the Thirty-first pre-cinct made a clever catch of the runaway near or Darlington, was thrown out, and the frightened stallion galloped through his field till Mounted Officer Rabbit of the Thirty-first precinct made a clever catch of the runaway near the wire, and stopped him on the first turn without any further damage. As the upset did not seem to be anybody's fault, King Darlington was allowed to start again, and Martin drove him another heat. Meantime Quarterstretch, who had led most of the way, had finished on a run which began as he turned home. After first announcing that it was "No heat," the judges made a second blunder by giving it to Quarterstretch, who thus reduced his record to 2:15. Carldon was still the choice at 5 to 4, and he look the lead early in the second heat. Cocoon brushing with him to the wire and landing at the chestnut trotter's wheel as he finished in 2:1445. Then it was any odds on Carldon, and he kept in front till well down the homestretch in the second heat, when Cocoon pressed him so hard that he lost his stride and ran under the wire. The decision of course went to Cocoon in 2:155 and Carldon's stock went down to even money. John Alden Goldsmith was then called to the rescue and he was behind the favorite when the fourth heat was called. The young artist from Orange county had Carldon on his stride and going much faster than the rest when they were sentaway, and rushing past Cocoon at once the stallion had a good lead coming home. Below the distance the black mare was closing, and when Carldon made a break his chances were doubtful. Goldsmith by a masterly effort lifted the tangied trotter back to his stride in time to finish a length sheak in 2:15½. Carldon seemed to have success assured now, but the breaking of his check rein in the fifth heat demoralized him, and he had a close call with the fag in that mile. Cocoon took advantage of the mishap and got home in 2:17, after a brush with King Darlington, who came very fast from the last turn. This made Major Dickinson's mare a favorite, home in 2:17, after a brush with King Darling-ton, who came very fast from the last turn. This made Major Dickinson's mare a favorite, but King Darlington outfooted her in the sixth heat and finished with a new record of 2:16. Carldon was again unsteady and evidently out of the hunt, and in the seventh heat Cocoon overhauled King Darlington gradually on the homestretch, George Starr finally landing the stout-hearted mare by a short head in the last stride.

homestretch, theorge Starr finally landing the stout-hearted mare by a short head in the last stride.

The 2:35 trot and free-for-all pairs merit no detailed description as both were very one-sided. There was some heavy speculation on the 2:18 trot. Rose Leaf and Expressive selling at $150 cach. Judge Austin worth $75, and the field $100. Strontia rushed away in the first heat, and, after several landy breaks, got home an open length ahead of Judge Austin in 2:14% a reduction of two seconds in his mark. Judge Austin was clearly entitled to the heat, as he trouted all the way, and he made sure of the second by a good leaf from the half, finishing in 2:16, with Expressive struggling in second place. Rose Leaf had been well up in the first heat till she made a break on the homestretch and dropped back to last place. She was no better off the next time, as the fleet black filly likes a hard track. This race had to be carried over till to-day, along with the 2:10 pace that was not reached. Hyland D.'s trial against the track record is also on for this atternoon. The summaries:

CRESCENTS WILL BE IN THE FIELD

Beecher Talked of for Captain-They are Rumors have been affoat of late that the Cresent A. C. intended to abandon football this seaon, much to the surprise and chagrin of a maority of the members and followers of the club, The rumor was attributed to the fact that the Crescents were defeated last season for the amateur championship by the Orange A. C. and as a consequence the criticisms upon the defeated eleven were anything but complimentary. The fact that the Crescents were organized in 1884 as a football club, and that after promoting the sport for ten years they should abandon it, nas aroused the ire of the members to a high pitch. In pursuance of a notice sent out by tary Hill, several hundred members of the club were present at a special meeting held last Thursday night. Such well-known college men as Harry Beecher. Duncan Edwards. William Ford, Aleck White, and A. Moffatt spoke upon the subject of football, and all ridiculed the idea of the club abandoning the game. The subject of paying men to play was also discussed, and the members expressed their disapproval of the labit. While it was admitted that some of the leading clubs compensated their players, it was the simest unanimous opinion that the club could get up a championship team within their own ranks. It is likely that Harry Beecher will captain the Crescent team this year. A second team will also be organized. tary Hill, several hundred members of the club

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 7.—The management of the Wes leyan Football Association have secured George Manchester of Winsted to coach the team this fall. Man chester was captain and half back of the Wesleyan chester was captain and half back of the Wesleyan team of '89. He is a first-class player. The outlook for the team is very fair. The class of '98 is expected to contain several good players. The first game will be with the Orange A. C. on Oct. 6. L. E. Gordon, captain of last year's team, will play on the Orange A. C.'s team this fail.

Prederic C. Smith and Richard Palmer App

Still the Champions, A preitier game of lawn tennis was never witness A preitier game of lawn tennis was never witnessed than that played on the courts of the Hobokus Valley Club at Ridgewood in the tournament for the Chapman Cup. The club's champions, Richard Palmer and Frederic C. Smith, were in excellent form. Smith's recent trip to Martha's Vineyard has been of great benefit, and he played with a vim and skill that brought forth continued plaudits from the large assemblage. Guy Watlington, who is looked upon as a coming champion, made some very pretty drives across court, and flarry Wilard excelled himself in his play down the side flues.

James, beating Horiston and Dennis by a final score of 6–5, when game was adjourned, Johnson having entered the games at Lake Maiopac and won, then defaulted. The results were as follows:

Men's Doubles—Preliminary round: Fred E. Houston and Benjamin Dennis best E. H. Cleveland and E. H. Watlington 6–5, 0–6, 6–4; Harry Willard and Guy Watlington beat the Ens brothers, 6–3, 2–6, 6–4. Semi-final Round—Willard and Watlington beat Dennis and Houston, 7–5, 6–4, 8–6, 6–7.

Final Round—Fred C. Smith and Richard Palmes, champlons of 95, beat Willard and Watlington 6–6, 0–2, 6–1, 4, 8–6, 6–9.

The singles were played last Saturday, and two of the cleverest handlers of the racquet, Louis H. Johnson and Richard Palmer, were pitted against each other. The latter carried off the honors after a very eaciting contest by 6–5, 4–6, 4–8. than that played on the courts of the Hohokus Valley
